- Strengthen the Intellectual Asset base of the firm
- Align and harness employee energies towards achieving superior results for our Stakeholders
- Guide employees on the path to strengthening their professional capabilities
- Provide a rational and objective basis for identifying high potential to take on future leadership roles
- Provide an objective basis for rewarding and recognizing performance

The Performance Appraisal Cycle

Individual performance and contribution will be reviewed on a continuous basis through appropriate monitoring and feedback. In this appraisal the focus will be on review of performance against key deliverables and targets and on capabilities demonstrated in the course of the year. The key outcomes of the end of year performance discussions will be

- An agreed set of action to be undertaken by the employee to improve performance

- Identification of development needs
- Identification of potential for career progression and growth
- Basis for deciding performance awards

1. The appraisal conducted twice a year- December (review of progress on FAAP) & June (review and reward);

2. The Appraisal is based on the Faculty Annual Academic Plan (FAAP) that is filled by all faculty in the beginning of the new academic session;

Components of the appraisal system:

1. Self-appraisal

2. Appraisal by Area Chair

3. Teaching feedback

4. Appraisal also includes data from the Program Office (like classes held, re- scheduled or cancelled; number of guest lecturers conducted, etc.)

5. Peer review is done by a cross functional team on team work, communication/socialization, and attitude related parameters. Peer Review is a developmental process through which individuals review and reflect on their practice, making plans and carrying them out, with the support of colleagues during the process.

The aims of Peer Review are to:

- Deliver improvement to the quality of student learning through a continuous process of review and development
- Enhance the scholarship of learning and teaching
- Promote reflective practice
- Link with appraisal and professional development to create a coherent development and review cycle supported by personal scholarly activity time

It should also aim to address the needs of individuals, subject and inter-professional groups, the institution and professional and regulatory bodies. In order to be effective, peer review needs to be integrated and seen as a developmental process which draws as far as possible on existing processes and documentation

After compilation of all this information, a formal appraisal meeting is held with the Vertical Head/ Dean/ Director and Chairperson to take final decisions in terms of increment, and promotion.

The purpose of the review process is to reflect on the achievements and challenges of the preceding year. The review is an opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate success. Whilst specific issues will have been addressed during the course of the year, this is an opportunity to reflect on, and learn from, the experiences of the year as a whole.

The review should be an open and confidential dialogue between the Vertical head/Dean/Director/Chairperson and the faculty, sharing and discussing:

- The individual's progress against the objectives previously set, taking into account any changes that have occurred during the year
- Factual information such as feedback from peer review, students and other stakeholders, and module review
- The individual's reflection on their own personal development during the year
- Reflection on the individual's achievements in relation to the team/faculty/department/research centre/University objectives and core values the individual is expected to uphold – these may refer to such areas as quality, teamwork, customer service, teaching, research and behaviour.

A personal development plan sets out the actions people propose to take in order to learn and develop themselves, together with what the organization is committed to do to support them. Individuals take responsibility for formulating and implementing their plan in agreement with their appraiser. This is an ongoing process of continuous improvement and individuals must be encouraged to engage in a range of developmental activities, both inside and outside IILM, as appropriate. In some cases, development may be a requirement in order to meet expected standards of performance

A personal development plan should include information on:

- The development activity agreed (including timing, any cost, staff time) and the expected individual and organizational benefit
- Any individual and/or team development objectives targeted to meet faculty/department objectives

Annual Increment

Annual Increment determined from time-to time will be awarded based on —Annual

Assessment of performance as per specified Performa (amended from time-to time). However, management in its absolute discretion may consider for any staff members, advance/special increments or one time award based on outstanding performance and potential at any time. "Increments to be reviewed in the appraisal cycle only".
